

Beshalach: From One War to Another

This past Monday marked the end of what has felt like an era, as the body of slain hostage Ran Gvili was finally brought back to Israel for proper burial after more than two years of waiting, praying, and protesting. Though this moment ought to have come much sooner, its arrival seems as if predestined. For it is in this week’s Torah portion that we read of a momentous era’s end marked by as momentous a return:

“And Moses took with him the bones of Joseph, who had exacted an oath from the children of Israel, saying, ‘God will be sure to take notice of you: then you shall carry up my bones from here with you.’” (Exodus 13:19)

Joseph was first to be brought into Egypt, sold by his brothers into slavery against his will. Now he is last to be brought out, redeemed by his descendants generations hence. His homecoming, while not yet complete, is the closure of a saga and the fulfillment of a dual promise: that God does not abandon His people, and that they do not abandon each other. So too, Ran’s homecoming is a saga closed and a promise fulfilled. And so too, there remains a journey ahead. With Egypt behind them and Sinai before them, the Israelites face the even greater challenge of re-definition. As former captive Rom Braslavski spoke from the stage of what was once Hostages Square in Tel Aviv: “We now go from one war to another war, which will be much more difficult—the war of rehabilitation.”

Together, we will win.

Shabbat Shalom.

A MESSAGE FROM PRESIDENT MEHRZAD ROSHAN

Holocaust Remembrance Day marks the liberation of Auschwitz-Birkenau and stands as a solemn reminder of the six million Jews murdered in the Holocaust, along with millions of other victims of Nazi persecution. It is a day to remember lives cut short, communities destroyed, and the consequences of hatred, indifference, and silence.

Just as importantly, it is a day to honor courage—those who resisted, those who helped others at great risk, and those who held onto their humanity in the darkest of circumstances.

One poem often read on this day is “Blessed Is the Match” by Hannah Senesh, written shortly before her execution in 1944 at age 23 by the Nazis.

Hannah was a Hungarian Jewish poet and resistance fighter. She is remembered for her courage and her words.

Blessed is the match that burns and sparks a fire.
Blessed is the fire that burns quietly in the heart.
Blessed are the hearts that know when to stop, with dignity.
Blessed is the match that burns and sparks a fire.

The poem reminds us that even a single life—like a small match—can ignite light and meaning far beyond itself. Senesh’s words honor inner moral courage and the dignity of standing firm in one’s values at great personal cost.

On Holocaust Remembrance Day, the poem calls us to not only remember the past, but to carry forward its lesson: that one person’s courage can light the way for others and that our responsibility is to ensure such darkness is never allowed to return.
